Josephs Herald (Commerce Newsletter) Editorial Team with Miss. M. Debora, Convenor

Chairman's Message

His Eminence Cardinal Poola Anthony DD Archbishop of Hyderabad & Chairman of HAES

A cordial and heartfelt greetings to the esteemed faculty and students of this renowned institution. It is with immense pleasure that I extend my sincere congratulations to this illustrious College for reaching the remarkable milestone, a journey marked by unwavering diligence and a brilliance that resonates throughout the campus. The Department of Commerce, consistently demonstrating excellence in academics and research, takes pride in offering a diverse array of innovatively crafted programs. Our curriculum remains dynamic, continuously adapting to meet the evolving demands of the industry and our valued stakeholders.

In our pursuit of holistic education, we fervently encourage students to actively engage in various socially relevant events and activities organized by the College. This not only enriches their educational experience but also instils a sense of responsibility and community engagement. Our distinguished faculty members, blending academic prowess with real-world experience, epitomize dedication and unwavering commitment to nurturing the next generation of leaders. The Commerce Department firmly believes that quality education is the cornerstone of a promising future.

I profoundly appreciate and commend Miss M. Debora, Convenor of Joseph's Herald, and the Editorial Team for their effective coordination and tireless efforts in bringing forth the sixth issue of the Newsletter. Your commitment to journalistic excellence is truly commendable. Stay Blessed!

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL POOLA ANTHONY DD
ARCHBISHOP OF HYDERABAD & CHAIRMAN OF HAES

In Conversation with the Correspondent

We at St. Joseph's Degree & PG College believe that education is not just a pursuit but a profound journey of discovery and enlightenment. Our institution cultivates a vibrant ecosystem where knowledge flourishes and minds are ignited. From engaging lectures to hands-on experiential learning opportunities, every facet of our educational experience is meticulously designed to foster intellectual curiosity and critical thinking.

I'm immensely delighted with the launch of the sixth edition of Joseph's Herald that stands as the torchbearer of the prosperous accomplishments and events of Commerce Department. The newsletter serves as a platform to showcase the laurels of students and it resonates with the readers and motivates them to grow further. I convey my special congratulations to Miss.M.Debora, Convenor of Joseph's Herald and the Editorial Team for their efforts in drafting the newsletter. May Lord's blessings always be upon all.

REV. FR. K. MARREDDY
CORRESPONDENT

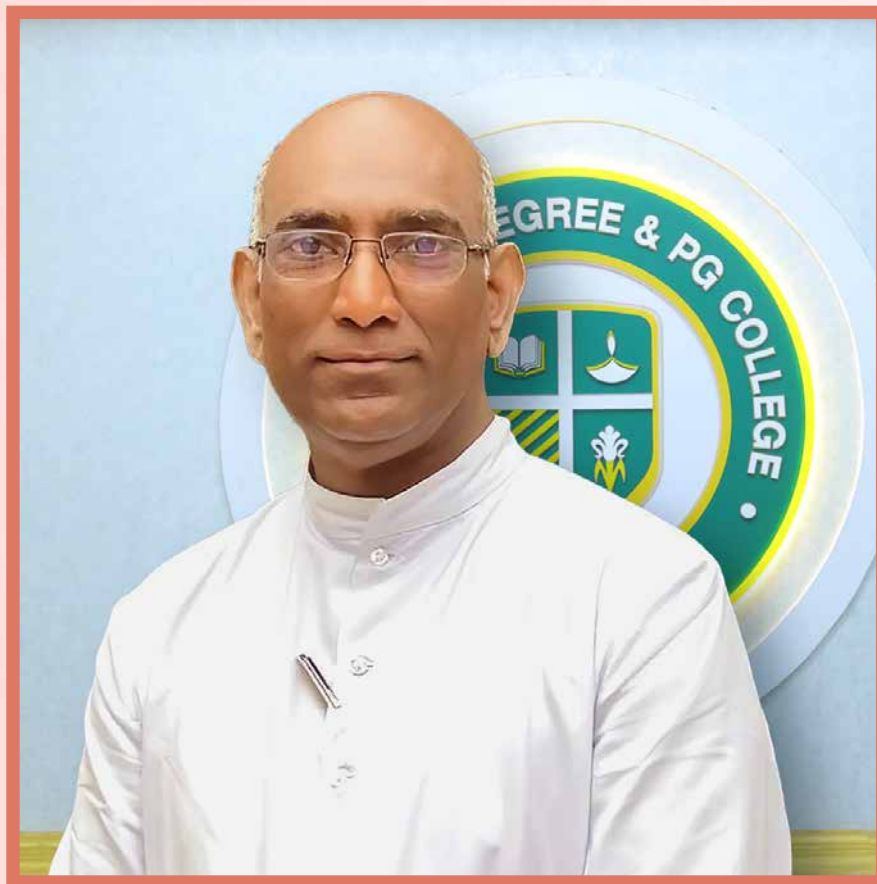

Provost's Proclamation

Our institution stands as a quintessential bastion of enlightenment, orchestrating a symphony of enthusiastic and bright students. The College fosters an environment for growth by delegating to students the opportunities to showcase their knowledge and forthcoming talent. Moreover, it provides a forum for celebrating achievements, sharing best practices, and nurturing a sense of belonging among all stakeholders.

Joseph's Herald serves as a curated platform for unveiling the tapestry of narratives by highlighting the achievements of the students while supporting their affinity for writing and also the events of the department. It is poised to be a reflection of our shared commitment to excellence and innovation. I extend my appreciation to Miss.M.Debora, Convenor of Joseph's Herald and the Editorial Team for the colossal accomplishment in publishing the sixth edition of the newsletter. May God Almighty bestow his blessings upon us.

REV. FR. ANTHONY SAGAYARAJA
PRINCIPAL

From the desk of Dean

Commerce is the great civilizer. It promotes national strength, prosperity, and the advancement of society.” - Benjamin Disraeli

Joseph's Herald serves as a vibrant nexus of communication, encapsulating the echoes and dynamism of campus life. With its kaleidoscope of articles, events and achievements of students, the newsletter embodies the intellectual fervour and creative energy pulsating throughout the academic community.

I'm highly elated to announce the launch of sixth edition of Commerce Newsletter. I also extend my heartfelt congratulations to Miss.M.Debora, Convenor of Joseph's Herald along with the Editorial team who assisted in drafting such a well-crafted editorial. I hope that this edition achieves great heights of success. With positivity and inspiration, this newsletter propels the College forward on its quest for excellence.

REV. FR. T. PRABHUDAS
DEAN

Dean's Corner

I ecstatically present to our readers the sixth edition of Joseph's Herald, the Commerce Newsletter. It serves as a multifaceted tool for information sharing and community building as it engages the students, faculty and other stakeholders of the College. The Newsletter serves as a platform to showcase the laurels of the students and acts as a stimulus in encouraging them to accomplish their goals by highlighting their achievements in various events held by the College. It resonates with the readers and motivates them to grow further. I congratulate Miss.M. Debora, the Convenor of Joseph's Herald and acknowledge the efforts of the Editorial Team in bringing out this Newsletter. Wishing you all a successful and enriching journey ahead filled with promises and joy.

MRS. MARY VINAYA SHEELA

Dialogue with the Doyen

I'm gratified to announce the sixth edition of Joseph's Herald, a testament to our commitment to fostering communication, collaboration, and cohesion within the Department of Commerce. The newsletter will serve as a pivotal platform to spotlight the myriad accomplishments, pioneering faculty endeavours and noteworthy achievements of our talented students. It will encapsulate the ethos of excellence that defines our department and showcase the diverse talents and perspectives that enrich our academic community.

Through engaging features, insightful articles, and captivating visuals, the newsletter will serve as a conduit for disseminating information about the events, academic opportunities, and initiatives pertinent to our department. I extend my heartfelt appreciation to the diligent efforts of the Convenor, Miss M. Debora and the editorial team for their dedication and vision in bringing Commerce Newsletter to fruition. Their unwavering commitment to excellence has ensured the successful launch of this invaluable communication platform..

DR. Y. GEETHANJALI

Head, Department of Commerce

Connect with the Additional Head

Achievement and failure are not definitive; what matters is the bravery to carry on. I'm enraptured to present the sixth edition of the Commerce Newsletter of the College. Joseph's Herald acts as a beacon of students' knowledge, creativity, connections and diverse talents. The remarkable publication embodies the spirit of our College community. Through this Newsletter, we commemorate our success and share our experiences and growth. It serves as a wonderful opportunity for students to present their achievements and pushes them to grow further. I profoundly applaud the Editorial Team for their commitment to excellence, and meticulous attention to detail, and the proficient Convenor of the Newsletter, Miss M. Debora for her hard work in fostering a supportive and educational environment.

MRS. R. SREELAKSHMI

Additional Head, Department of Commerce

Convenor's Cadence

Joseph's Herald, a beacon of erudition and cerebral discourse within our academic bastion, stands as a testament to Commerce Department's unyielding dedication to scholarly excellence and intellectual rigor. Through its labyrinthine corridors of prose, adorned with lexicons rare and arcane, the Chronicle transcends the mundane and ventures into the rarefied realm of academic profundity. With each edition, it unveils a mosaic of esoteric insights, incisive analyses, and avant-garde research, serving as a veritable crucible for the cultivation of intellectual curiosity and scholarly discourse.

As the Convener of our esteemed Commerce Newsletter, it brings me immense pleasure to extend my appreciation to the indefatigable Editorial Team consisting of Team Lead and Heads from final year; Associates from second year whose tireless efforts and unwavering commitment have brought our vision to fruition. The dedication, creativity, and meticulous attention to detail have transformed mere ideas into vibrant narratives that captivate and inspire our readership. With each stroke of pen and every pixel crafted, we have breathed life into our sixth edition, infusing it with a sense of purpose and resonance that transcends the ordinary.

As part of "JOSEPHIESTA - THE Z FACTOR", Department of Commerce organised "COMMERA 2K24", National Level Fest on 29th February 2024. The inaugural Ceremony of "Josephiesta" commenced with a soul-stirring prayer song by "Anno Domini", the College Choir, followed by an enchanting welcome dance by students, captivating the audience with their grace and energy. To mark the significance of the occasion, Rev.Fr. K.Marreddy, Correspondent and Rev.Fr. Anthony Sagayaraja, Principal and Rev.Fr.T.Prabhudas, Dean were warmly invited on to the dais for lighting of the lamp, symbolizing the enlightenment and auspiciousness of the event.

Rev.Fr. Anthony Sagayaraja in his address extended heartfelt gratitude to the organising team and commended their dedication and commitment, acknowledging that their collective endeavor made the event possible. He urged the participants to exhibit their talents with confidence and enthusiasm, setting the stage for a day of celebration. He emphasized the inclusive spirit of Josephiesta, embracing diversity and fostering intercollegiate connections.

Rev.Fr. K.Marreddy extended a warm welcome to all attendees and officially declared Josephiesta open wishing everyone a joyful and enriching experience ahead.

COMMERA 2024, a vibrant part of Josephiesta, featured a diverse range of informal events which included Talent Euphoria, Sherlock Homies, Frame by Frame, and Admagination Marathon, fostering creativity and camaraderie among participants. In addition, formal events such as Guess the Mystery, Trivia Titans, Market Maestros, and Bingo provided an engaging platform for students to showcase their skills and knowledge, enriching the overall festival experience.

As the day progressed, anticipation grew for the evening's valedictory session, where esteemed dignitaries namely Mr.Praneeth Prattipati, Director of Patang Movie and Ms.Preethi Pagadala, Actress graced the occasion. The session commenced with rapporteurs report delivered by Ms.K.Sujitha, from BBA III (IT) and president of SQAC. The highlight of the evening was the prize distribution, recognizing outstanding performances by participants and dedication of core committee members. The celebrations concluded with vote of thanks followed by National Anthem making the fest a resounding success.

As the curtains closed, the spirit of celebration lingered leaving behind cherished memories and anticipation for future endeavors.

Geo-Politics: The Israeli–Palestinian Conflict (III Prize)

The Israeli-Palestinian conflict is the most long-standing geo-political issue of the world that has been going on for a century now. Territorial disputes is the catalyst of this conflict. On October 7th, 2023, the Hamas have reignited it using boats, Motorcycles and 5000 Rockets towards the Territory of Israel, killing over 250 people and leaving over 1500 injured. Hamas is a designated terrorist organisation which has been controlling the Gaza strip which shares its borders with Israel and Palestine. The Hamas have been urging Palestinians to stand against Israel in order to stop them from occupying Palestine which has been happening since 1947. Israel has countered this attack by declaring a 'state of war' against the Hamas by blocking all the supply lines of basic necessities in the Gaza strip which also includes other population of Palestine, and Israeli and foreign hostages held by Hamas. Israel has the support of the western front which includes countries like United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy and Hamas which supposedly tries to represent Palestine has the support of Iran and Saudi Arabia.

Before supporting anyone in this crisis, it is important to acknowledge that it is terror which is the ultimate enemy of all. Terror is the ultimate threat to human rights. It leads to political and economic disruptions, displacement of people, impact on international relations and more importantly loss of life. Now it is a challenge for Israel to balance security concerns of the civilians and the human rights of majorly Palestinian children and elders and other nationalities which the Hamas have held as hostage, with the offensive counter-terrorism steps it is taking.

A question pops to the rest of the world whether to support Humanity which is the defeat of terror or terror which does not hold itself back from going against their own country for not backing or defending them for disrupting world peace.

The Global Economic Landscape: Opportunities and Challenges:

The global economy is made up of complex and interconnected economic activities that transcend borders and affect every aspect of our lives. It is a dynamic system influenced by a variety of factors including politics, technology, and global trade. The global economy has experienced growth and turmoil in recent years. Before the COVID-19 pandemic, many countries experienced strong economic expansion driven by technological advances and globalization. However, the pandemic was a disaster, causing economic hardship in many parts of the world. As countries slowly recover from the impact of the pandemic, we are seeing economic recoveries economies that have successfully managed the crisis, invested in advocacy campaigns, and adjusted to the “new normal”. have proven resilient.

There are many challenges in the global economy. Rising prices, supply chains and labour shortages are among the concerns highlighted. Rising prices can erode purchasing power and create uncertainty for businesses and consumers. The supply chain disruption exacerbated by the pandemic has exposed weaknesses in our interconnected global trading systems. Labour shortages, especially in industries such as hospitality and manufacturing, create operational challenges for businesses.

- Global trade remains a driving force for economic growth. International trade enables countries to specialize in their comparative advantages and benefit from the exchange of goods and services. However, trade disputes, security measures and geopolitical tensions have disrupted the global supply chain. Striking a balance between domestic interests and global cooperation is essential to the continued growth of the world economy.
- Technology continues to transform the world economy. The digital transformation has enabled companies to innovate, improve efficiency and reach wider markets. E-commerce, remote work and the digital economy have all grown exponentially, with technology companies leading the way in this shift. The rapid pace of technological change also brings challenges, such as concerns about data privacy, cyber security, and the impact on traditional businesses.
- Sustainability and environmental considerations are becoming central to economic discussions. The urgent need to address climate change has led to a shift towards sustainable practices. Businesses and governments are investing in renewable energy, electricity transmission and the circular economy. The transition to a greener and more sustainable global economy is essential for the well-being of future generations.
- Income inequality remains a global issue. Inequality in income and wealth distribution in each country. Addressing these inequalities is not only not a moral imperative, but it is also necessary for the maintenance of social cohesion and economic growth. Policies to reduce inequality include progressive taxation, social safety nets, and better access to education and health care.
- Geopolitics can have a profound effect on the world economy. Trade disputes, sanctions and political tensions can undermine global economic stability. Balancing national interests and international cooperation is a delicate task for policymakers.

The world economy is going through a constant state of flux, influenced by many factors. It offers both opportunities and challenges. As we navigate an ever-changing landscape, governments, businesses, and individuals must adapt, innovate and embrace sustainable practices. Addressing issues such as income inequality and climate change will be essential for a more equitable and prosperous world economy. Global integration, technological progress and responsible governance will play a key role in shaping the future of the global economy.

The All-Elusive Women's Reservation Bill

India, for many centuries, prides itself as being a patriarchal society. Men have predominantly called the shots in all walks of life. The prevalence of it is also witnessed in the elective bodies of the country. The representation of women in the political scenario is minimal. Women comprise only 15% of all Lok Sabha seats and 14% of Rajya Sabha seats in the country. At present around 17 states have less than 10% women representatives. But the situation is not so bad in the local bodies of the country as 44.37% of women occupy prominent positions. As we go up the hierarchy ladder, the situation is worse: among the 29 states of the country, only one has a women Chief Minister. The Women's Reservation Bill aims to change the above.

In the year 1970 when the US questioned the Indian government on the progress on gender equality, a committee was set up and the findings seemed quite discouraging. A debate then had begun, and various suggestions were given as the country failed to ensure gender equality. In 1980 this proposal received political backing. When Mr. Rajiv Gandhi assumed office in 1987, he formed a committee again and received around 353 recommendations out of which one was the Women's Reservation Bill. In 1992 this proposal was partially implemented whereby 1/3rd of the seats was reserved for women in local bodies but the issue wasn't addressed for the elective bodies of the country. The then-serving PM Mr. Deva Gowda in 1996 went ahead and tabled the whole proposal but failed to get any support as the OBC representatives vehemently opposed it. Since then, every PM has unsuccessfully tried to revive the bill.

During the BJP's election campaigns of 2014 and 2019, one of its campaign proposals was the assurance of passing the Women's Reservation Bill. Finally, on the 20th of September 2023, the Lok Sabha successfully passed the bill with more than 2/3rd's majority. The bill, "Nari Shakti Vandan Abhiniyam" reserved 1/3rd i.e., 33.33% of seats for women in all elective bodies of the country. This rule will apply to all legislatures. Accordingly, this quota of reservation will apply only to the Lok Sabha and not the Rajya Sabha, it will apply to state assemblies but not legislative councils. Passing of this bill was rejoiced by many but the possibility of it being made into a law is yet to be witnessed. This has caused an uproar among a lot of female activists and opposition parties, as well. The bill that's yet to become a law calls for 3 steps, the order being - census, delimitation, and then quota. The first step 'Census' was last taken in 2011 and the one that was to be taken in 2021 was delayed due to the pandemic and until now no date has been set by the government. Once the census is taken, the constituencies are redrawn, and the bill will be implemented. With many loopholes surrounding the census, speculation is rife that it's just a tactic of the current government to retain power. Hopefully, this is not the case, and the bill becomes a reality for the benefit of women in specific and society in general.

Recent Trends of Commerce and Management

The world of commerce and management is in a constant state of evolution, driven by ever-changing market dynamics, technological advancements, and shifting consumer preferences. Here are some of the recent trends that have been shaping the landscape of commerce and management, offering a humanized perspective on the exciting developments taking place.

1. E-Commerce Boom

One of the most significant recent trends in commerce has been the unstoppable rise of e-commerce. The COVID-19 pandemic accelerated the shift towards online shopping, and this trend shows no signs of slowing down. People are now accustomed to the convenience of shopping from the comfort of their homes, and businesses are embracing digital platforms to reach a wider audience.

2. Sustainability and Corporate Responsibility

Consumers today are more conscious of the environmental and social impact of their purchases. This has prompted businesses to adopt sustainable practices and demonstrate corporate responsibility. Companies are increasingly focused on reducing their carbon footprint, embracing ethical sourcing, and supporting social causes, not just for public relations but because it's the right thing to do.

3. Data-Driven Decision-Making

The advent of big data and analytics has transformed the way businesses make decisions. Managers are leveraging data-driven insights to gain a deeper understanding of consumer behaviour, optimize supply chains, and enhance overall operational efficiency. This trend has also led to the emergence of new job roles, such as data analysts and data scientists.

4. Remote Work and Flexible Management

The COVID-19 pandemic forced businesses to adapt to remote work on an unprecedented scale. As a result, remote work and flexible management have become integral parts of modern organizations. Employees now value work-life balance, and employers are embracing hybrid work models to attract and retain talent.

5. AI and Automation

Artificial intelligence (AI) and automation are revolutionizing various aspects of commerce and management. From chat bots providing customer support to the automation of routine tasks in supply chain management, AI is streamlining operations and improving efficiency. However, it also raises questions about the impact on the job market and the need for up skilling.

6. Digital Marketing and Personalization

Marketing strategies have shifted towards digital platforms, and personalization is key. Thanks to AI and data analysis, companies can tailor their marketing efforts to individual consumer preferences, providing a more relevant and engaging experience. This trend is reshaping how businesses connect with their customers.

Lastly, the world of commerce and management is a dynamic and ever evolving one. Recent trends indicate a strong shift towards digitalization, sustainability, and a focus on human-centric values. Businesses and managers need to adapt to these changes to stay competitive in a rapidly changing world. The businesses and professionals that thrive in this environment will be those who can harness these trends to their advantage, while also keeping the human element at the core of their decision-making and strategies. The ability to adapt and innovate in response to these trends will be the key to success in commerce and management in the coming years.

New Education Policy: The Renaissance of Education

"Change is the only constant".

The New National Education Policy is a watershed moment in India's educational policy after 34 years of following the same norms, the Ministry of Education (previously known as MHRD) made significant changes to our education policy on July 29, 2020. The new education policy takes students on an educational odyssey, exploring the vast landscapes of knowledge and igniting the flames of curiosity. What exactly is the new education policy? What changes does it bring? Is this change necessary?

Mythri RK
B.Com II Honors

The motto of the policy is to Educate, Encourage, and Enlighten the future of India. The major changes made in the policy were the replacement of the 10+2 Structure with a 5+3+3+4 Structure, Permission to conduct Board Examinations twice, and a Common Admission Examination for admission HEIs will be implemented. The four Pillars of the Policy are Access, Equity, Quality, and Accountability. It aims at 100% Youth and Adult Literacy. There will be no distinction between the arts, sciences, academic, vocational, curricular, and extracurricular disciplines. The government will spend 6% of the country's GDP on education.

Every coin has two sides, the new policy comes with both pros as well as cons. Approximately two crore school students will be able to come back to educational institutes through this new approach, appropriate authorities will conduct the school examinations for grades 3, 5, and 8. The board exams for grades 10 and 12 will continue but the NEP 2020 aims to re-design the structure with holistic development, Parakh national education policy is to be set up by the Government, Special daytime boarding school "Bal Bhavans" is to be established in every state/ district in India. This boarding school will be used for participation in activities related to sports, career, art and, for making the students prepared for future pandemic situations, online academics will be promoted on a larger scale. While these are the advantages of NEP there are several drawbacks hindering its smooth application. In the National Education Policy, language is a negative factor as there is a problematic teacher-to-student ratio in India, finding a competent teacher becomes a problem and now another challenge comes with the introduction of the NEP, which is bringing study material in mother languages. According to the national education policy, students of the private schools will be introduced to English at a much earlier age than the students of the Government schools. The academic syllabus will be taught in the respective regional languages of the Government school students. This will increase the number of students uncomfortable in communicating in English thus widening the gap between sections of the societies.

To conclude, this policy marks a significant milestone in the realm of education, paving the way for a transformative journey of learning and growth. It's an exciting step forward in our educational landscape, and we eagerly await the positive impact it will have on future generations. So, let's embrace this educational renaissance.

ISRO: Pioneering India's Journey into Space

The Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) has emerged as a global space agency, with a remarkable journey of success, innovation, and exploration. From its humble beginnings in 1969 to becoming a powerhouse in space technology, ISRO has consistently pushed the boundaries of what's possible. This article delves into the remarkable story of ISRO's rise and its significant contributions to space exploration. ISRO's inception was marked by the vision of Dr. Vikram Sarabhai, who believed that India must harness space technology for its development. Since then, ISRO has achieved several milestones that have earned the respect of the international space community. The Pioneering Achievements are as follows:

1. Aryabhata and Rohini Satellite Series: ISRO's first satellite, Aryabhata, was launched in 1975. This marked India's entry into the space race. The Rohini Satellite Series furthered India's space capabilities.
2. SLV and ASLV: The Satellite Launch Vehicle (SLV) and Augmented Satellite Launch Vehicle (ASLV) demonstrated ISRO's commitment to reliable and cost-effective access to space.
3. Mars Orbiter Mission (Mangalyaan): In 2013, ISRO made headlines by successfully sending the Mars Orbiter Mission to the Red Planet, becoming the fourth space agency globally to do so.

4. Chandrayaan Missions: ISRO's Chandrayaan-1, Chandrayaan-2 and Chandrayaan-3 missions have significantly expanded our knowledge of the Moon. The discovery of water on the lunar surface during Chandrayaan-1 was groundbreaking. The Chandrayaan-3 lander module successfully landed on the moon's South pole, making it the first country to have achieved the historic feat.
5. Navigation: NavIC: India's regional navigation satellite system, NavIC, enhances the accuracy of GPS and is a testament to ISRO's technological prowess.

ISRO's work extends beyond space exploration. It has played a crucial role in India's socio-economic development:

1. Telecommunications: ISRO's INSAT and GSAT series of satellites have revolutionized telecommunications in India, ensuring connectivity even in remote areas.
2. Agriculture and Disaster Management: Satellite-based services have been used for weather forecasting, agriculture, and disaster management.
3. Global Partnerships: ISRO has established partnerships with various countries for launching satellites, boosting India's presence in the commercial space launch market.

ISRO has faced its share of challenges, including setbacks and budget constraints. However, it has consistently bounced back with resilience. The Future prospects include:

1. Gaganyaan: India's first human spaceflight mission, Gaganyaan, aims to send Indian astronauts to space.
2. Aditya-L1: ISRO's upcoming mission to study the Sun will provide valuable insights into solar activities.
3. International Collaboration: ISRO continues to collaborate with international space agencies, opening doors to joint missions and research.

ISRO's journey from its inception to its current status as a space exploration giant is a testament to India's scientific and technological capabilities. With a strong commitment to innovation, affordability, and global cooperation, ISRO is set to play an even more significant role in shaping the future of space exploration. As India's flag bearer in space, ISRO's endeavours not only inspire the nation but also the world, showing that determination and innovation can overcome challenges and lead to the stars.

G20: Global Challenges

The Group of Twenty (G20) is a premier international forum comprising 19 individual countries and the European Union. Established in 1999, the G20 has since become a critical platform for addressing global economic and financial issues. Its annual summits convene leaders from the world's most powerful economies to discuss and coordinate policies, making it an influential force in international affairs.

One of the primary objectives of the G20 is to promote global economic stability and growth. The G20 plays a pivotal role in managing financial crises, as witnessed during the 2008 global financial meltdown. Leaders worked together to stabilize the global economy, implement financial reforms, and prevent a deeper recession. The group's continued collaboration is vital in addressing economic challenges, such as trade disputes, currency fluctuations, and income inequality.

Beyond economics, the G20 is also a platform for addressing pressing global issues. Climate change is a prime example. G20 members are among the world's largest carbon emitters, and their cooperation is crucial in mitigating the effects of climate change. The Paris Agreement, a landmark climate accord, was made possible through G20 negotiations, demonstrating the forum's significance in shaping global environmental policies. Additionally, the G20 is instrumental in addressing the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. The group has coordinated efforts to provide financial support for vaccine distribution, promote global vaccination campaigns, and stimulate economic recovery. Such initiatives exemplify the G20's role in addressing urgent global crises.

The G20's strength lies in its inclusivity and diversity. It brings together countries from different continents, representing various stages of development, political systems, and cultural backgrounds. This diversity fosters a richer dialogue on global challenges, resulting in more balanced and comprehensive solutions.

Nonetheless, the G20 faces criticisms and challenges. Some argue that the forum lacks binding mechanisms to ensure the implementation of its agreements. Additionally, achieving consensus among its members, each with distinct interests, can be a complex and time-consuming process.

In conclusion, the G20 is a crucial international forum for addressing global economic, environmental, and health challenges. Its role in managing financial crises, combating climate change, and addressing the COVID-19 pandemic underscores its significance in today's interconnected world. While facing some challenges, the G20's diversity and inclusivity remain its strengths, enabling a more holistic approach to global problem-solving. As the world continues to grapple with complex issues, the G20 will play a vital role in navigating the way forward.

Entrepreneurship

To begin with, entrepreneurship means all the activities taken up by a person who undertakes risk in setting up his own business. Basically, an innovative idea proposed and selected is built in forming the base of the business. Business is always conditioned in uncertainty and in an uncontrollable situation. Entrepreneurship is often described as the lifeblood of innovation and is key force to economic growth. It is the driving force behind the creation of new businesses, job opportunities, and groundbreaking ideas that shape our world. Entrepreneurs are like modern-day explorers, constantly seeking knowledge in the business world. The entrepreneurs who take up these activities very well are assured of the problems that might arise and are advised enough to overcome all the obstacles and arise in the business line. They are individuals who dream and work to turn those dreams into reality. While the supportive facts in entrepreneurship include the ability to follow passion and the potential to learn, it helps a person to inhibit different analytical skills and draw solutions to each.

Entrepreneurship involves identifying a market opportunity or gap in the market, securing funding, finding the right staff, launching the business, and then looking into the operations. Every idea wishes to be approved and selected to form a shape of business in future. But very few of them are selected. Major problem with the cause is the lack of availability of finance for budding entrepreneurs. However, there are entrepreneurial development schemes Startup India Scheme, Electronic Development Fund (EDF) and many such which are initiated to strengthen the same. Any enterprise can avail these to ensure finance for their business.

Another aspect of entrepreneurship is entrepreneurship mentoring. 'No man is an island'. This rings true in the business world. If you want to run a business from the ground, there is a system developed which is called entrepreneurship mentoring. The purpose is to help new and young entrepreneurs to choose and form a successful enterprise. Respective mentors who give advice regarding the business and the mentees to seek advice are allotted timely.

The core facets lie in opting for an entrepreneurial career and then growing the enterprise to gain sustainability in the market. Business enterprise advises sustainability only when fair measures are grasped. While entrepreneurship in India has increased post the pandemic, it implied greater and innovative brains. All the idle brains took over charge with passion and led to creating efficient start-ups promoting business growth across the globe. A start-up is a business which is in its operating stage and the funds are invested by conventional business investors, houses or finance institutions. Thus today, the start-ups have grown, entrepreneurial motive among the youth has increased, as all it takes is an innovative and creative idea.

Therefore embracing entrepreneurship is not just about starting a business, it is about making a positive impact on society and leaving a lasting legacy. Aspiring entrepreneurs should remember that while the road and journey may be tough, the rewards are worth the journey. So, unleash your entrepreneurial spirit, pursue your dreams, achieve them and make a difference in the world!

Woke Feminism – Woke and Proud: Challenging the Status Quo (I Prize) :

This recent rendition of feminism is taking a surf on the internet and social media. We see women irrespective of their color, age, body type, or sexual orientation, voicing their opinions, and feelings about their daily lives, the challenges they face, their workplace, about their entire existence in general, thanks to the technology and social media which enabled us humans broaden our perspectives and become more welcoming and accepting of different personalities.

• What is 'Woke Feminism'?

The term 'woke' is obtained from African American vernacular English. It means being aware and challenging the social injustices caused to women [in this case] of different social identities and different walks of life. While traditional feminism also encourages the empowerment of women, it concentrates on traditional aspects of women's suffrage rights, educational rights, equality under the law, political participation, etc. which were considered relevant during the early 19th century, where patriarchy is said to be dominated and prevalent in most parts of USA, UK and other world war fighting countries. Woke feminism, while considering these rights, also acknowledges that not all women of different social identities face injustice in the same way.

Woke feminists, while marching the path paved by the traditional feminists, place a strong emphasis on inter sectionality and strive to address the unique challenges faced by women of different diversities. Woke feminism practices inclusivity and provides a platform for women to engage in protests, interact through social media, and encourage marginalized voices to state their opinions and condemn the injustice that they have faced, thereby making them embrace their uniqueness thereby inculcating confidence in them.

Similar to traditional feminism, woke feminism also challenges patriarchal systems and norms that insinuate gender-based discrimination. In addition to this, it also challenges other forms of oppression such as homophobia, fatphobia, racism, economic inequalities, etc., often emphasizing the interconnectivity of these issues.

• Woke Feminism: the other side of the coin:

Owing to the broad terminology, women can have a chance to form opinions and perspectives about the term 'woke'. But there might be instances where the term is often misinterpreted and promoted as 'hatred against men as a whole', furthermore stunting men's right to freedom of expression and embracing their individuality. In addition to encouraging '# girl boss life', it also sets the narrative that pursuing love and family life and playing the role of a mother or a wife as 'degrading' and 'not so modern'. Many people criticize that 'woke feminism' is often 'performative' rather than actually striving to bring any positive changes in society.

In spite of its hits and throughs, the 'woke feminism' movement managed to stay relevant and trending, thanks to this age of information and accessibility. I feel that any movement that promotes women's empowerment should be encouraged and in addition to this, the people of these movements should also consider and constantly evaluate the negative and positive effects that the movement is causing and where they are heading with this movement so that they could bring a change for the good.

How Siddharth Lal saved Royal Enfield from going Bankrupt (II Prize) :

The iconic motorcycle brand in India, Royal Enfield, known for its classical design and thumping sound, was on the verge of bankruptcy in the late 1990s. However, Siddharth Lal, a young, determined entrepreneur, decided to step in and pull the company out of its losses, amidst the cutthroat competition with rival companies. Siddharth, who was only 26 years old at the time, made the company one of the leading sellers of two-wheelers in just two decades. It's quite remarkable how a budding entrepreneur was able to elevate the company, after being almost bankrupt in 1994, to one of India's most profitable automobile companies.

• Royal Enfield was drowning

In the hectic competition of the 1990s, two-wheeler companies were touching the skies with their increased businesses in India. Royal Enfield also attempted to grab the opportunity by signing business deals with Madras Motors. The company began manufacturing motorcycles and operating in India after shutting down its business in the United Kingdom. As there was a heavy demand for motorcycles in the Indian market, companies including Yamaha, Jawa, and other Japanese firms followed and introduced sleek and fuel-efficient bikes at cheaper costs. The sudden introduction of these bikes almost collapsed Royal Enfield until it was sold out to a multinational automotive company, Eicher Motors. Later, they also wanted to shut down Royal Enfield because of the perpetual losses that it was making. However, Siddharth Lal, Eicher's CEO's son, decided to take over and resurrect the sinking ship in 2000.

• One thing at a time

Siddharth Lal joined the company shortly after his graduation. He understood that the first step to elevating the company was to direct all the employees to ditch the company cars. He urged the employees to commute only on Enfield bikes. All this was done to recognise the issues that bikers come across and fix them. Moreover, Siddharth was also a firm believer in

Arsalan Nazir

"focusing on one thing at a time." So, despite having multiple businesses, he decided to prioritise only on bikes and trucks and close down all the other businesses. He had 15 different businesses, from ancillaries to garments, of which he closed down 13.

• Creating a Cult

The last strategic execution was to build a cult around the bikes by focusing on the 'identity' aspects of the bikers through effective marketing. It included:

- Sponsoring off-road rallies, adventurous rides, and rider clubs.
- Building classic retail outlets to enhance the buyer experience.
- Building a social status around his bikes.

Today, whenever you hear the 'roary' and 'rumbling' motorcycle sounds, you know that it is a Royal Enfield ruling the streets. But, now that you know, it has not always been like that. The company not only possesses a huge fan base in India but commands a 30% market share in the United Kingdom as well. Royal Enfield won the award for the best marketing and sales, and today, it makes up to 90% of Eicher Motors' profits.

The Evolution of Fintech Companies: Transforming Finance

Fintech firms, at the intersection of finance and technology, have become formidable disruptors in the financial sector. They've redefined how we handle money, make investments, and engage in financial transactions. By prioritizing user-friendly experiences, they've revolutionized digital payments, lending, investing, and even pioneered block chain and crypto currency. These innovations, while offering convenience, have also triggered regulatory adaptations and cyber security concerns. Moreover, fintech's potential for financial inclusion and global expansion makes it a transformative force in the modern financial landscape.

• Digital Transactions:

Fintech firms have changed the way we make payments. Individuals and businesses can send and receive money using mobile payment platforms such as PayPal, Square, and Stripe. Crypto currencies, such as Bitcoin and Ethereum, have also gained traction as decentralized and secure forms of digital payment.

• Peer-to-Peer Lending:

Traditional lending institutions are no longer the only loan providers. Fintech companies such as LendingClub and Prosper connect borrowers with investors directly, bypassing banks. This peer-to-peer lending model has democratized credit and frequently provides lower interest rates

• Robo-Advisors:

With the rise of Robo-Advisors such as Wealth front and Betterment, investing has become more accessible. These platforms use algorithms to build diversified investment portfolios tailored to individual goals and risk tolerances, eliminating the need for costly human financial advisors.

• Blockchain and Crypto Currencies:

Block chain technology, the underlying technology of crypto currencies, has the potential to transform a wide range of financial processes. Smart contracts on platforms such as Ethereum automate agreements, reducing the need for intermediaries and increasing transparency and security.

• Insurtech:

Fintech isn't just for banks. Insurtech companies such as Lemonade and Oscar have used technology to simplify insurance processes.

Through data analytics and AI, they provide personalized policies, claims processing, and fraud detection.

• Regulatory Challenges:

Fintech firms face regulatory challenges as they disrupt traditional finance. Governments are debating how to strike a balance between innovation and consumer protection and financial stability. Finding the right balance will be critical to the industry's future growth.

• Financial Inclusion:

Fintech has the potential to close the gap in financial inclusion. Mobile payment platforms have enabled millions of people in developing countries to gain access to basic financial services for the first time, promoting economic growth and stability.

• Cyber Security:

Fintech companies face cyber security risks as their reliance on technology grows. The security of sensitive financial data is critical. Companies invest heavily in cyber security measures to protect the information of their customers.

• Future Trends:

The fintech industry is still evolving. Some of the trends shaping the future of finance include open banking initiatives, AI-driven financial advice, and central bank digital currencies (CBDCs). CBDCs, in particular, have the potential to reshape the role of traditional currencies.

Finally, fintech firms have disrupted and diverse the financial services landscape, making finance more accessible, efficient, and secure. However, as the industry matures, regulatory and cybersecurity issues must be addressed. The future holds even more promise for innovation, with the potential to change the way we interact with money and financial services.

Social Media: Navigating the Digital Labyrinth of Our Souls

In an age where screens serve as our windows to the world, social media has become more than a platform; it's a reflection of our desires, insecurities, and the ceaseless quest for meaning. Prepare for a mind-bending journey, where every line reveals a profound truth that resonates deep within your soul.

- The digital stage is set, where masks of perfection overshadow authentic selves, as we perform for a global audience.
- Our profiles are canvases, each post a brushstroke painting an image we hope aligns with our true identity.
- The dopamine rush from notifications fuels an addiction to validation, overshadowing genuine human connection.
- The infinite scroll, a portal to information, becomes a labyrinth where the line between real and virtual blurs.
- Behind every polished image lies a story, a life replete with complexity and shades of emotion.
- We share laughter but often conceal pain, forgetting that both are part of our shared human experience.
- Friends multiply online, yet the depth of true relationships can wane in the digital realm's shallow waters.
- Emojis express our emotions but may never capture the richness of a heartfelt conversation.
- Deceit and deception lurk in the shadows, testing trust, an invaluable currency in the digital realm.
- Our avatars wear masks, posts are our narratives, and profiles, windows to our enigmatic lives.
- The internet's cloak of anonymity can breed cruelty; words, once typed, can never be fully retracted.
- Avatars idealize while vulnerability humanizes; authenticity shines through the cracks of perfection.
- Hash tags weave digital tapestries, uniting people, causes, and moments in a shared language of change.
- Influencers hold sway, but authenticity wields the power to create genuine and lasting connections.
- Brands shine in the spotlight, yet individuality should be celebrated as the true hallmark of distinction.
- Emojis are the universal language of emotions, offering unity in a world of diverse expressions.
- As we over share, we risk undervaluing the essence of privacy, the guardian of personal freedom.
- Virality spreads ideas like wildfire, incinerating boundaries and revealing the collective pulse of society.
- Social media, the paradox of liberation and entrapment, demands mindful navigation.

Empowering Women: Overcoming Social Evils and Promoting Gender Equality

Women across the globe continue to face a myriad of social evils, a disheartening reality that has persisted for generations. Domestic violence, dowry-related violence, female feticide, and gender inequality are some of the persistent challenges that affect the lives of countless women. These issues, deeply rooted in societal norms and beliefs, pose significant obstacles to women's empowerment. In this article, we delve into these pressing problems and explore the pivotal role of attitude in fostering women's empowerment.

• Domestic Violence: A Hidden Epidemic

Domestic violence, a harrowing issue that transcends borders, is a grave concern for women. It encompasses physical, emotional, and psychological abuse within intimate relationships, leading to a vicious cycle of fear and trauma. The silent suffering of countless women is a stark reminder of the need to confront this social evil head-on.

• Solution to Domestic Violence

It requires a multifaceted approach. Vigilant enforcement and strengthening of laws against domestic violence are essential. Additionally, extensive awareness campaigns and the passionate promotion of gender equality are crucial to eliminating this harmful practice. Platforms like 'Satyamev Jayate,' which highlight issues like domestic violence, play a crucial role in underscoring the urgency of addressing these grave concerns.

• Dowry-Related Violence: An Ongoing Tragedy

Dowry-related violence is another social evil that plagues societies, particularly in South Asia. The practice of demanding dowries from brides' families often results in harassment, abuse, and even tragic deaths when dowry demands are not met. This deep-rooted tradition perpetuates gender inequality and is a harsh reality for many women.

• Solution to Dowry-Related Violence

The most effective strategy to address dowry-related violence necessitates the rigorous enforcement and enhancement of existing anti-dowry legislation. Concurrently, a comprehensive approach should be adopted, including robust awareness campaigns and fervent advocacy for gender equality, in order to eradicate this detrimental practice from society.

• Female Feticide: The Tragic Consequence of Gender Bias

Female feticide, the deliberate abortion of female foetuses due to a preference for male offspring, is a somber outcome of gender bias. This heinous practice deprives countless girls of their right to life, perpetuating skewed gender ratios in some regions. Tackling this issue requires not only legal measures but also a transformation of societal attitudes towards the value of every life, regardless of gender.

• Solution to Female Feticide

The most effective approach to combat female feticide entails a synergistic amalgamation of rigorous legal enforcement, precision-targeted awareness campaigns, and culturally oriented education. These multifaceted measures collectively aim to instigate a profound transformation of societal perspectives, emphasizing the intrinsic value of every life and reinforcing the principles of gender equality.

• Gender Inequality: A Pervasive Barrier

Gender inequality, though often subtle, remains a pervasive barrier to women's empowerment. Disparities in education, employment opportunities, and decision-making roles persist, limiting women's ability to achieve their full potential. Breaking free from these stereotypes and achieving true gender equality is an essential step towards empowering women worldwide.

• Solution to Gender Inequality

Mitigating gender inequality requires the implementation of proactive policies and initiatives designed to facilitate equitable access to education, employment opportunities, and leadership positions. Concurrently, it is imperative to engage in a comprehensive societal endeavour to challenge and recalibrate prevailing gender stereotypes, thereby fostering an environment conducive to genuine gender parity.

In conclusion, the challenges women face, including domestic violence, dowry-related violence, female feticide, and gender inequality, are deeply rooted in societal norms and beliefs. However, solutions exist, ranging from legal enforcement to awareness campaigns and the promotion of gender equality. Empowering women is not just a goal; it's a necessity for creating a more equitable and just society for all.

In the growing world and the fast-changing technologies, the world has witnessed many reforms, social organizations and many inter-governmental forms. The G-20 which represents the half and the above which is 85% of the world's GDP. The core vision of G-20 is to ensure sustainable development, climate change, geo political stability, economic growth and trade. 19 sovereign countries, European Union and the African union (with the effect from India's presidency 2022), are the members of G-20.

The first G-20 summit took place in Washington, 2008. This summit was held due to the back drop of the 2008 global economic crisis. From then various G-20 countries have taken over. Various reforms on the IMF (International Monetary Fund) took place in France. BEPS (Base Erosion and Profit Shifting) this declaration was taken under the Russian leadership, 2013. The G-20 presidency reached the world's 5th largest economy, India. India also marks the beginning of "Amrit Kal". "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam" which is one earth one family one future as its theme of its presidency. India has tabled six priorities as its agenda for the dialogue. This includes Green development, Economic growth, Technological transformation and Digital public infrastructure and food security etc. The Delhi Declaration emphasizes the need of the members to work together for the sustainable growth and the emerging technologies to counter terrorist activities and conflicts in Ukraine and food security.

The G-20 has successfully organized 18 such presidencies in positioning different G-20 countries though the G-20 has no permanent residency. The IMF and the UN are the inseparable members of the G-20. With the recent membership of the African union into the G-20 has strengthened its reach to the under developing countries to raise its voice for the sustainable and equitable growth of the world. The G-20 has proved the world since 1999 which marked the beginning of G-20 and now under the presidency of Brazil this summit witnessed and witnessing the strengthening of multilateral development banks, reforming global policies for crypto assets keeping in mind the developing and under developed nations to become as a whole strong world which would cut CO2 emissions and increase sustainable growth, health infrastructure and many rising issues would be solved or eventually finding solutions that the world would become a better place to live.

Entrepreneurship and Start-ups:

Entrepreneurship is a growing popularity in India. It showcases a sense of ownership, innovation and a source of employment. It promotes a national growth in GDP as well as the swadeshi concepts. People are coming up with different start-up ideas including sustainability and using less resources for greater benefits. Start-ups are unstructured where they use out of box thinking and play with uncertainty. Youth of India is more into entrepreneurship to skip the baffled side of the job system. Many government schemes are provided to young blooming minds to start their own business and be independent. India is the 3rd largest ecosystem for start-ups globally over 99000 entrepreneurs.

Some great start ups include Phone pe, Licious, Paytm, Livspace and many more. These are the outcomes of innovative thinking of the entrepreneurs. Talent should be nurtured to flourish in this market. There are many aspects which are to be taken into account in entrepreneurship and start-ups these go hand in hand. Now a question arises how entrepreneurship is different from start-up. Entrepreneurship is a long-term process which includes building and scaling of business whereas start-up focuses on rapid growth and profitability.

There are many initiatives by the government. Women entrepreneurs are given greater opportunities for their start-ups through scheme like Mudra Yojana and many more. Entrepreneurship also include psychological stability as well as wellbeing. Maslow's theory and Herzberg's theory are two famous theories of motivation. A zeal and action is needed to incredibly do well. Entrepreneurship is getting right people into the bus to go on a track. It is choosing gold out of scratch. It is important for people to know about entrepreneurship and its advantages. For a person to be entrepreneur he should have great courage, risk taking ability and a great mind. A start-up is like a seed which nourishes through great funding and grows into branches and trees to become a full-fledged plant. They are pillars for a building.

Finally, to conclude they are the windows of opportunity and ladder to success. It is a great journey with lows and ups but it is the dream coming to reality. Dream big and make all your efforts to make your dream into reality.

The Unwavering Spirit of Entrepreneurship:

Entrepreneurship has become more than just a buzzword; it is a way of life and a driving force in today's ever-changing world. Whether you're a student or a seasoned professional, understanding the essence of entrepreneurship is crucial in a landscape where innovation, creativity, and adaptability reign supreme. In this article, we'll explore the fundamental aspects of entrepreneurship, and we will conclude with a powerful quote that encapsulates its spirit. At its core, entrepreneurship is about taking the initiative to identify opportunities and creating value through innovative ideas and solutions. It's the art of recognizing a gap in the market, developing a vision, and taking calculated risks to bring that vision to life. Entrepreneurship is not limited to starting businesses; it's a mindset, a way of thinking that empowers individuals to drive change, disrupt traditional norms, and leave a lasting impact on the world.

One of the most profound quotes that embody the spirit of entrepreneurship comes from Steve Jobs, the co-founder of Apple Inc. He once said, "Innovation distinguishes between a leader and a follower." This quote highlights the core of entrepreneurship, which is innovation. Entrepreneurs are not content with following existing trends; they aspire to create new ones. They are the leaders who innovate, paving the way for others to follow. Innovation is the engine that drives entrepreneurship, enabling individuals to stand out and create something truly remarkable. As we navigate the dynamic world of entrepreneurship, we must remember that it's not just about creating businesses but about creating change. It's about envisioning a future that others may not yet see and having the courage to chase after it. Innovation is the vehicle that takes entrepreneurs from the realm of ideas to the real world, and it's what sets them apart as leaders and visionaries.

In conclusion, entrepreneurship is the beacon of progress, guiding us to shape our destinies and impact the world in a meaningful way. Steve Jobs' quote reminds us that innovation is the linchpin that separates leaders from followers in the entrepreneurial landscape. In our journey through the world of entrepreneurship, we are encouraged to think beyond the ordinary, be bold in our pursuits, and embrace innovation as the driving force that propels us forward. Whether you're starting your own venture or contributing to an existing one, entrepreneurship is a mindset that empowers you to be a catalyst for change and a beacon of innovation in a world that constantly seeks the new and the remarkable.

From Banks to Bytes: Exploring DeFi and Blockchain's Banking Revolution:

In today's rapidly evolving financial landscape, the world of traditional banking is facing an unprecedented challenge. The rise of decentralized finance (DeFi) and block chain technology is revolutionizing the way we handle our money, shifting the focus from bricks-and-mortar banks to digital platforms. This article explores the remarkable journey of how DeFi and block chain are evolving from traditional banking, bringing simplicity, efficiency, and inclusivity to the world of finance.

• The Traditional Banking Model

Traditional banks have been the cornerstone of our financial system for centuries. They provide a range of services, including savings accounts, loans, payment processing, and wealth management. However, these institutions are burdened with complex bureaucracies, centralized control, and significant overhead costs. For many, accessing financial services through traditional banks can be time-consuming and riddled with fees.

• The DeFi Revolution

Decentralized finance, or DeFi, represents a paradigm shift in the way we think about financial services. It leverages block chain technology to create a transparent, trust less, and decentralized ecosystem. In a DeFi world, intermediaries like banks are replaced with smart contracts, which are self-executing agreements that operate without the need for intermediaries. This eliminates the need for trust in a central authority and makes financial services more accessible.

• The Power of Block chain

Block chain, the technology underpinning DeFi, is a distributed ledger that records all transactions across a network of computers. It ensures transparency and security, making it virtually tamper-proof. Block chain technology allows individuals to have full control of their assets and data, reducing the risk of fraud and unauthorized access. This level of security and transparency is something traditional banking systems have struggled to provide.

• Financial Inclusion

One of the most significant advantages of DeFi and block chain is the potential to bring financial services to those who were previously excluded. Traditional banks often require extensive documentation and impose high fees, making it difficult for many to access banking services. With DeFi, all you need is an internet connection and a digital wallet, opening the doors to banking services for millions worldwide.

• Decentralized Lending and Borrowing

DeFi platforms offer decentralized lending and borrowing services, where users can earn interest by lending their assets or access loans without the need for a credit check. This provides individuals and businesses with more flexibility and convenience than traditional banking systems. Plus, interest rates are often more competitive in the DeFi space.

The banking revolution from banks to bytes is well underway, thanks to DeFi and block chain technology. The traditional banking model, with its complexity and exclusivity, is being disrupted by a more inclusive, efficient, and transparent system. DeFi offers the potential to democratize finance, giving individuals greater control over their financial lives. While challenges remain, the promise of a more accessible and decentralized financial future is exciting. As DeFi continues to evolve, it's clear that the future of finance lies in the hands of the people and the power of block chain technology.

Rise of Machines-Smart Investing for the Modern Age:

• The Rise of Robo Advisors and automated Investing

Robo-advisors and automated investing are cutting-edge, algorithm-driven systems that provide advice on finances in the fintech industry. These platforms use cutting-edge computational approaches including machine learning and quantitative modelling to evaluate investor risk profiles and create optimal portfolios. The primary objective is to minimize the need for human intervention by offering a scalable and affordable portfolio management solution. They are an ideal marriage between technology and finance, providing individual investors with a systematic, data-driven asset management strategy, improving accessibility, and overcoming long-standing issues with fees and human biases in traditional advisory services. The convergence of finance and artificial intelligence represented by robo-advisors and automated investing platforms is fundamentally revolutionizing investment management.

• The History of Robo-Advisors and Algorithmic Trading in Fintech

The emergence of the first algorithmic trading systems in the 1960's laid the groundwork for the development of robo-advisory technology. The foundation for automated investing methods is laid by the rise of quantitative finance and the improved accessibility of financial data.

When the word "robo-advisor" was first introduced, crude systems mainly concerned with asset allocation emerged. More complex investing strategies can be included by robo-advisors thanks to developments in machine learning and data analytics. The 2008 financial crisis raised interest in automated, low-cost investing alternatives. Robo-advisory start-ups that provide low-cost, diversified portfolio management, such as Wealth Front and Betterment, are gaining steam. The process of institutional adoption starts when established financial institutions purchase or collaborate with robo-advisor platforms. The SEC is one of the regulatory agencies that releases recommendations about the Fintech business.

• The Impact of Robo Advisors Algorithmic Trading in Fintech

Improving portfolio management through algorithmic tactics, robo-advisors, and automated investing have profoundly altered the financial business. They improve efficiency, decrease human biases, and provide cost-effective investing solutions to both individual and institutional clients. These technology developments increase access, diversification, and risk management, democratizing investing prospects.

• The Fintech Future of Robo Advisors and Algorithmic Trading

The future trajectory of machine progress within the fintech sector, particularly in the context of robo-advisors and automated investment, is set to disrupt financial services. Artificial intelligence, deep learning, and natural language processing are emerging technologies that will enable advanced algorithmic trading and tailored investing strategies. These innovations have the potential to improve risk management, portfolio diversification, and real-time decision-making for investors, offering them efficient, data-driven solutions.

To summarize, the incorporation of robo-advisors and automated investment into the financial landscape represents a paradigm change. These technologies have the potential to democratize investment management by making it more accessible and cost-effective to a larger variety of investors. Algorithm's capacity to handle massive information and make data-driven judgments with minimum human interaction offers a significant improvement in efficiency and precision. Potential hazards, such as algorithmic biases and cybersecurity concerns, highlight the significance of stringent monitoring and ethical requirements. Robo-advisors and automated investing have a bright future, but proper implementation and continual supervision are required to fulfil their full potential while protecting investors' interests.

My journey at St Joseph's Degree & PG College, Hyderabad, as a part of the 2020-2023 batch, has been nothing short of transformative. I pursued my studies in the esteemed B.Com (International Finance & Accounting) program and emerged with flying colors, culminating in the honor of receiving the Gold Medal for achieving the highest GPA in the college, a remarkable 9.96. Beyond academics, I embarked on a parallel journey with ACCA, successfully clearing four papers and even securing noteworthy national and global rankings in two of them.

The faculty at St Joseph's played a pivotal role in my journey. They were not just teachers, but mentors who believed in me more than I believed in myself. Their unwavering support and encouragement turned challenges into opportunities. They treated me like family, fostering an environment where personal and academic growth thrived. One of the invaluable lessons I gleaned from my time here is that when you dare to dream big,

I, Shruthi P from B.Com (Information Technology), as an alumni of St. Joseph's Degree & PG College, am overwhelmed with gratitude for the incredible journey that my College years have been. Today, I proudly hold my Graduation Degree, a testament to the hard work, perseverance and support. Reflecting on my graduation, I am profoundly grateful for not only the academic milestones but also the personal growth that accompanied stepping out of my introverted shell. Alongside this transformative journey, I am delighted to share some achievements that have shaped my college experience.

Firstly, the constant support from my peer group nudged me out of my bubble, to being an active participant in various committees - Serving as a student coordinator for the Women Empowerment Cell (2021-2022) and leading Joseph's Herald as a team lead (2022-2023), Creative Assistant (2021 - 2022) for two consecutive years were endeavours that allowed me to contribute to causes close to my heart. Exploring beyond the familiar, I had the privilege of representing our college at Andhra Loyola College's BEMUS Fest (2022), an experience that broadened my horizons and fostered connections beyond our campus. Additionally, the joy of receiving the gold medal in essay writing during National Energy Conservation Week (2021) and winning prizes for jam sessions conducted by the Computer Science department (2021) added a vibrant note to my college journey, reminding me of the importance of embracing diverse opportunities. This graduation is not just an academic triumph but a celebration of the courage it took to embrace a more extroverted side, discovering a world beyond the confines of my introversion. I am thrilled to share that I am currently working as a Financial Analyst, a testament to the skills and confidence nurtured during my college years.

I am immensely thankful for the professors who inspired me, the friends who became family, and the countless lessons learned inside and outside the classroom. Embracing the belief that everything happens for a reason - each moment, triumph, and even setback has contributed to my growth. As I embark on the next phase of my journey, I carry with me the memories cherished, and the support that has defined my experience. I am genuinely thankful for the opportunities that my college years have provided.

PARENTS PROBES OF ALUMNI

"From the vibrant campus of St. Joseph's Degree & PG College to the rigorous academic environment, Ramya's educational journey in B.Com Honors has been more than just textbooks and lectures, it's been a voyage of self-discovery, learning, immense personal growth, and an opportunity in the myriad of extracurricular activities she had the privilege to engage in; from being the vice president for Student training and progression to contributing significantly to college initiatives aimed at enhancing student development and academic progress.

While the first year studying from home due to COVID helped her focus more on education, her holistic growth started when the situation normalized, giving her the opportunity to outshine and create a balance in 'work n play'. Being an introvert, she took on a self-challenge to becoming an extrovert by registering to be an active member of the SQAC Cell, volunteering to be the assistant event manager for the ACE Club, as well as participating in the Accounting and Finance Club. These experiences have not just complemented her academic pursuits but have been instrumental in shaping her into a responsible individual, ready to face the world.

Being a team player is a very important skill and Ramya decided to learn the same by taking the initiative to volunteer to various events, like "Fete de Noel" (Christmas Fest) and JOSHH. Such extensive showcase of potential led her faculty to entrust her with the task of preparing a detailed report on various seminars, capture insights and share knowledge with her classmates. The experience from these has been of great help in her post-graduation education.

St. Joseph's Degree & PG College has been the one stop shop for Ramya that not just moulded her, but allowed her to develop people and leadership skills. As she navigates through her MBA at St. Ann's College, these skills have become her strongest allies and the world of business requires not just an understanding of theories and models but also the ability to work well with others, to lead with empathy, and to manage time and resources efficiently".

"We the parents of Ayushi Kedia from B.Com Honors want to share our daughters experience during her graduation. It was one marked by a whirlwind of emotions – pride, excitement, and perhaps a touch of apprehension. Yet, as we reflect on our experiences with St. Joseph's Degree & PG College, we are filled with a profound sense of gratitude and satisfaction.

From the moment she set foot on campus, it was evident that she had found not just a place of learning, but a community that would shape and nurture them in ways we could only imagine. The support and guidance provided by the faculty and staff have been nothing short of exceptional. Their dedication to fostering both academic excellence and personal growth has been evident in every interaction and experience our child has had. She was the Vice President of ACE Club which gave her the opportunity to explore her interests, develop leadership skills, and forge lifelong friendships.

We've always admired Ayushi's ability to balance academics, extracurricular, and personal growth. It's no surprise that they continue to excel in their chosen career path. Her achievements in poster making competition in The Bibliotheque Spree organised by Library Committee during her 2nd year and Prastuti Competition for two subsequent years i.e. 2nd and 3rd year highlights her ingenuity and adaptability, traits that were nurtured during her time at college. During her 6th semester, she got an opportunity from Placement Cell to work as an intern for an MNC named DuPont. After seeing her overall growth in the College, we decided to let her pursue MBA in the same College as we have confidence in the faculty that they will help her in overall development for her future."

Poetry

"Sunshine"

Been in the rain too long
I've been writing this song
I wanted to see the rainbow in the sky
Wanted to ask the rainbow why
Why did she not come to me for all the times I cried?
She smiled and replied: "I became your sunshine and I tried
You didn't recognise me because of the heat and the scorching weather
I fell on your cheek when you were crying, like a soft feather
You didn't know me. I was meant to be yours but you didn't know
I agree I was never there for you when you were feeling low
Because God was preparing me for you everyday
You need me today more than you needed me yesterday"

"Brutal Dawn"

Toes curled, fist tight
The blood of innocent
Doesn't make it right
What in the world is right!!?
Prior humanity
Prior sanity
I can't see, my eyes are open
Bombing world, blind and broken
Child is dead, mom is dead
Papa in a war....
Where's the war!?
On the border?
On the line?
Every home isn't home
But border's line!
No Street is calm
With every heart beat goes down
Each of us watching
This brutal dawn!
This inhumane song
Sung by little feet
Dawn to dusk...no food
No treat, just bloodbath
For that innocent feet...
